THE JAPANESE COLONY

To Locate 500 Families Near Strathmore

The following has been sent out from Calgary and is being widely published and is produced here as it gives some details of the Japanese colony not heretofore made public.

Mr. B. R. Nagatany, of Kioto, Japan, has signed articles of agreement of sale with the C. P. R. company's lands department whereby 10,240 acres of fertile land in the Inverlake district, about six miles northwest of Strathmore, Alberta, passed under his name, and when he arrives in Tokio next month he will be received as the largest land owner in Japan. He will not retain this distinction long, however, as he will directly transfer this land over to the Canadian Farming company, of Tokio, a company which Mr. Nagatany has organized in Japan since his visit to Calgary in August, 1906. This company is capitalized at a quarter of a million dollars of Japanese gold, and its object is to carry on in Alberta on a large scale the production of sugar beets, vegetables and grains, while they will also engage in mixed farming.

Mr. Nagatany came to Canada in 1902, and during this year he attended Queen's, at Kingston, as a student of the Japanese college course. During 1903, 1904 and 1905 he attended the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, where he proved to be a most successful and popular student. It was while at this college he conceived his big farming scheme, and during his course and the time subsequent he has been working incessantly towards the perfection of his plans, often with much sacrifice and discouragement, until Dec. 30, when, upon signing the contract whereby he secured the required area of land, his dream was realized. Mr. Nagatany has been assisted by his college friend, J. Everard Bunions, Calgary, who is acting in the interests of the company in Alberta.

According to his contract Mr. Nagatany is to bring out fifty experienced Japanese farmers each year for ten years. These farmers own their own farms in Japan, which they are selling out and investing the proceeds in this farming company. These men upon arriving at the Inverlake district will work as employees of the company for two years, when each man will then be allotted his small farm of 25 acres to hold in fee simple and to till henceforth for himself and family.

About one half of this area, which is situated forty miles east of Calgary, is to be irrigated this year by the C. P. R. irrigation system, which with the fertility of the soil, will make it possible for these farmers to grow sugar beets, vegetables and small fruits to perfection, as only Japanese farmers do, the secret of their success lying in the fact that they are willing to bend their backs and do weeding and transplanting by hand, with extensive use of hoes. These farmers will also engage in raising poultry, growing hogs for breakfast bacon, dairying and growing Japanese rice.

Until recently it has been considered impracticable to grow sugar beets in Alberta north of the main line of the C. P. R. for as twelve or fifteen years ago it was thought impossible to grow wheat in Alberta, but the sugar beets grown last summer at Strathmore and Gleichen has demonstrated conclusively that very soon the beets growing in these districts will contribute as much to the fair fame of Alberta as has our Alberta wheat.

These sugar beets grown this last season at Strathmore and Gleichen were shipped to the sugar factory at Raymond, Alberta, and before being manufactured they were carefully tested by experts. The test proved very gratifying as compared with that of beets grown in other places, as may be gathered from the following figures:

	Sugar of contents.	Co-efficient of purity.
Strathmore and Gleichen	19.2	88.1
Raymond	18.7	79.9
Berlin, Ont.	14.4	79.8
Utah, U. S. A.	17.	90.
California	15.6	87.1

A sugar factory is to be erected near Strathmore in the near future, and in the mean time, by special arrangements with the C. P. R., Strathmore farmers get the same price per ton for their sugar beets as the farmers at Raymond receive.

Many of these Japanese farmers coming to Alberta are already Christians, as the result of the recent awakening in Japan and the supplanting of the heathen religions by Christianity. Mr. Nagatany, who is himself a Methodist, has arranged with Rev. G. W. Kirby, B. A., of the Central Methodist church, Calgary, to establish a Japanese mission in their district, and to open an English school.

These Japanese settlers mean to invest their money in Alberta and to adopt Canada as their home. They mean to be not only settlers, but citizens ever ready to conserve the best interests of their adopted country, not only in agricultural and commercial pursuits, but, if need be, to fight to uphold Canadian honor.

Rosebud Creek Dance

The dance given in aid of the new English church building on Rosebud Creek last week proved a most enjoyable and successful affair. There were several Gleichen people who went the miles to attend the dance and all say they do not regret making the trip. The Rosebud folk the most hospitable people they ever met. Rev. Mr. Castle and Messrs. F. Birch, J. W. Todd and R. Brown were among those who went, and the two latter being members of the Gleichen orchestra, their professional efforts materially aided in the enjoyment of the evening. Mr. Birch sang several songs in his own inimitable style that called for many encores. Several of the Rosebud ladies and gentlemen favored with songs, evincing the fact that some excellent talent on the creek is not getting the opportunities of development merited. At midnight a bounteous repast was provided by the ladies, consisting of ice cream, cake, pie, tea, coffee etc., in great quantity and excellent quality, and as one of the boys characterized the refreshments, "It's just the kind mother used to make."

Dancing continued until six a.m., and that it was thoroughly enjoyed is proven by the fact that before it broke up another dance was arranged for this week. One of the Gleichenites was so delighted with the good folks of the creek that he found it impossible to leave the vicinity until Monday, and even now is counting on another visit.

More No. 1 Oats Here

F. W. Mertens, who is located east of Gleichen, has received a letter from D. D. Campbell, the Winnipeg Government Grain Inspector, from which the following is extracted and fully explains itself: "Your sample of oats received, and they grade No. 1. White, which I trust will be satisfactory to you. These oats should be saved for seed as good seed oats are going to be very scarce."

Mr. Mertens is keeping his oats for seed and will exhibit it at the Calgary and Lethbridge fairs.

THE POLICE ARREST

J. W. D. STERLING

Charged With Embezzling $26,000 in Ireland

J. W. D. Sterling, who has been night porter at the Gleichen Hotel for some time, was arrested on Tuesday and taken to Calgary, causing quite a sensation in town. From Policeman MacLarty the following particulars have been obtained, who said:

"You must not believe all the rumors going about in connection with the arrest of Sterling as most of them are untrue. To start with we received a photograph of a man wanted in Dublin, Ireland, who was a clerk on the Dublin stock exchange, and who some years ago embezzled a sum of money amounting to about $26,000. The photograph and description corresponded in every particular with Sterling so far as we could tell and Staff-Sergeant MacLeod arrested and took him to Calgary. That is really all there is to the case at the present time that I know. There were no detectives here working on the case. One of our detectives was here on the cattle stealing case, with another man, but they were not on the Sterling case. No reward is offered for the arrest. The Scotland Yard do not work that way. It is not stated how many years ago the embezzlement was made. It may have been twenty years ago and it has only been recently discovered, but I do not know. To far as I know Sterling was not suspected two months ago."

The rumors about town would occupy columns to report. However, it is said by reliable men that they were informed some months ago Sterling very much resembled a man wanted in Ireland, but that time it was decided he was not the man, and some are inclined to think his arrest may prove a mistake.

Sterling has been about Gleichen since last fall and while at times he appeared quite intelligent at other times he acted and talked quite the reverse. From the time of the arrival of the detective, who did not register at the hotel, on Sunday night's train Sterling appeared nervous, drank considerably and had light fainting attacks, but made no attempt to get away. His actions may be attributed as a sign of guilt or to be more charitable as a sign of being arrested for the crime of one who resembled him.

Mr. and Mrs. Eccles knew Sterling in Ireland and state he only left there last fall and could have been taken at any time quite easily. It is also stated he is a married man with six children, the eldest being a son 19 years of age. He farmed in different parts of Ireland.

Keep Oats For Seeding

Owing to the large shipments of oats made from Gleichen it is thought advisable by farmers and grain men to warn those who have seed oats to be careful in future and make sure that plenty will be left in the Gleichen District for seeding this year's crop, as it is feared the mistake made a year ago may be repeated this year. Last year after large quantities of excellent seed had been shipped from here it was found necessary to ship back several carloads for seed, and this should be carefully avoided this year, especially as it is likely there will be a shortage of seed oats next spring, all over the west. Few places were as fortunate as the Gleichen district last year in growing good oats and it would be deplorable if the farmers of this favored country could not secure oats in sufficient quantity for seed.

A Winnipeg despatch states there is a great scarcity throughout the country at the present time of the best quality of oats which has caused a rapid advance in the price of that cereal. So rapid has been the advance that people are laboring under the delusion that there is a corner in No. 2 white oats but this is far from fact. The cause of the advance is the small quantity of No. 2 white in the west, there being very little more than 500,000 bushels of these oats in store at Port William and Port Arthur, while the amount still in the country will be needed for seed, owing to the large amount which has been rejected and is unfit for seed. It is the general opinion that No. 3 white will be unsuited for seeding purposes next spring.

Monday night a pugilistic wave swept over Gleichen and no less than seven real live scrapes are reported for that evening. None of the combatants were actually killed but there were certainly some lovely looking physogs next morning hid away in rooms or roaming the prairie on important business out of town. La grippe held The Call's fighting editor in the palace and our reporter found it convenient to have urgent business elsewhere while the fights were in progress, so that we have missed some very interesting narratives for this issue. The names of the artists were lost in the darkness of the night, and it is thought from the numerous purple drabs, loss of flesh and blood that the law has been satisfactorily vindicated in each instance.

Now Want the College

Strathmore and Langdon now want the agricultural college and either place would make good locations and their chances would have been very good had they not been quite so slow in starting. Both these points are in the Gleichen District, but they neglected to come to Mr. Riley's assistance when he first drew attention to the district's advantage for the college last summer, while Gleichen at once took up the matter in an earnest manner and naturally enough he offered to support the location of the college here, where his efforts were most appreciated. This being the case no fair-minded person will now expect our member to go back on his pledges and undo the good work he has already accomplished to support another nearby point where conditions are similar in every particular.

It is to be regretted that these other points should at this late date ask for the college and it is to be hoped they will reconsider their actions and assist in locating the college here where it will also be of much advantage to them, now that we have secured the support of our member, the Calgary Board of Trade, the Calgary newspapers and a free gift of land from the C. P. R., besides the promise of support from numerous other points.

In view of these facts it is difficult to see where Strathmore or Langdon hope to secure any assistance in their undertaking, and they must admit the college will serve this district and province here equally as well as at their door as our interests are identical and the country the same.

PROVINCIAL SEED FAIR

The Second Annual Provincial Seed Fair for Alberta, conducted under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, assisted by the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, will be held this year at Lethbridge on Feb. 18th, 19, and 20th. In addition to the liberal prizes offered for the various classes of grains, grasses and clover seeds, Farm Crops Magazine of Winnipeg, has offered a valuable silver trophy, known as "The Farm Crops Trophy", for the best bushel of spring wheat. The trophy will be supplemented by a cash prize of fifty dollars to the winner, thirty dollars as second and twenty dollars as a third prize. In this class, as well as all other classes of wheat, exhibitors must have at least 50 bushels of seed for sale, as represented by the sample exhibited. On exhibits sent to the Fair all express charges over fifty cents will be paid by the Department of Agriculture. The grain judging competition, in which all farmers and farmers sons will be allowed to compete, will also be conducted.

An interesting program in which competent speakers will take part is being prepared. Among the speakers will be Prof. Atkinson, Agronomist, from the Agricultural College, Bozeman, Montana.

Arrangements have been made with the railways, whereby convention rates will apply to all attending the exhibition. Prize lists, which contain all information, can be had on application to the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Queenstown Happenings

Messrs. Ole Nelson, A. Olson and N. Vinje all took a trip to Gleichen last week.

The Rev. H. Fraser will hold service at Mr. Brown's on Sabbath February, 16th at 1:30 p.m.

A. Armstrong rode down to Lethbridge last Friday to secure a homestead in this district and from the suite that he now wears he must have been successful.

C. A. Hellevang made a trip to Gleichen Monday on business, and if things don't get too busy, why, he will be back down here soon.

J. W. Pownall, who has been visiting at O. P. Solberg's and F. K. Robertson's since December, has returned to his home at Mars, N. D., where his parents reside.

The regular weekly dance was given last week at the residence of W. H. Robertson's, when there was a very large gathering of the lovers of the light fantastic present. The Queenstown Orchestra supplied the music and it is hard to beat, with J. Hudson as professor and C. McIntyre on the "foot"—a mistake, the flute.

L. Hellevang is on the sick list this week with the gripe.

H. Inkster, who had the misfortune to get his drill stuck in a well he was drilling for Preston Mills, was down here trying to dig it out with the assistance of J. Brierley, but has given it up for the present.

The Buns My Mother Baked

I'm sitting in the cells alone,
Broken down and sad;
I hear the stifled curse and groan
Of drunken men and bail,
I'm hungry, thirsty, weak and sick;
For hours my heart has ached;
I'm thinking of my mother and
The buttered buns she baked.

I dream I'm home and see the cows
Stand knee deep in the pond,
The waving grain in yonder field,
The tamaracks beyond,
Someone blows the supper horn!
The scented clovers raked;
I'll lie me home and feast upon
The buns my mother baked.

I see the morning-glory vines
Hang idly down and droop
About the table where I eat
My supper on the stoop,
Beyond the meadows stretches far,
With ox-eyed daisies flaked,
While Phoebe deftly butters buns
My dear old mother baked.

I hear the twitter of the birds,

J. P. McBeath has been duly appointed wolf bounty inspector and a commissioner for taking affidavits at Durty, the new post office on Red Deer river. These appointments will be of much benefit to the residents of that district, and altogether Dorothy promises to be quite a bustling little city in a short while.

Two Indian ladies from the reserve gave a free exhibition of their fighting qualities in town the other day, much to the amusement of the onlookers and the disliking of the damsels. It was a catch-as-catch-can bout, when hair pulling, biting and scratching were freely indulged in. The combatants are named Susan and Supenica, the latter translated into English is given as "Kill a man at night," but in this instance Supenica appears intent on a change of name to "Kill-a-quaw-in-day-light."

A well attended meeting was held in the Foresters Hall Monday evening for the purpose of organizing a Minstrel Club. T. H. Beach was elected chairman and J. E. Kilcup secretary-treasurer, and the initial steps toward forming were taken. Messrs. Firth, Mortimer and Fisher were appointed to secure suitable candidates for the minstreis and to report at next meeting. It was decided to give at least two performances by the club. One to be in aid of the fire laddies and the other for the Foresters. There is some excellent talent going to waste around Gleichen for a negro show and no doubt the new club will prove a huge success.

At the regular meeting of the Gleichen and District Board of Trade Tuesday evening the request of the ranchers to have the stock yards at Stobart moved to Gleichen and weighing scales put in occupied most of the evening. It was pointed out by the ranchers that as all the land close to Stobart has been bought up and will be put under cultivation they have no room to hold stock while waiting shipment and further that there is no accommodation for their men or telegraphic communication at that point and it would be of great benefit to the ranchers and farmers to ship from Gleichen, where they transact their business. A resolution was passed by the board, asking the C. P. R. to consider the matter and it was decided to draft a petition for circulation among the farmers and ranchers urging upon the company their desire in this direction.
